THIS MONTH WE HEART...

♥ Vaseline Cocoa Butter, $11.99. This body lotion is just plain YUM.

It smells yum, has vanilla-scented creamy goodness. It looks yum, because the bottle is the color of chocolate, and it's so cheap you can use the change from your 20 bucks to buy yourself real chocolates... just in case you're tempted to ingest the Cocoa Butter itself!

♥ CND Shellac, $40-$55 (for a basic Shellac).

Not only does it have a cool name, it's a fresher, cool product too! It's a nail system that goes on fast, peels off, and lets you take a break for two whole weeks without chipping, cracking, or scuffing. Seriously, I tried it and it does deliver. Only downside is, you can't DIY. You've gotta hit the nail salon to get it put on and removed. But totally worth it for two weeks of perfection. Go to cnd.com/shellac for a list of nail salons in your area.

♥ Vaseline Skin and recently had an allergic reaction on my face. I can't find anything that's safe, doesn't make my skin look greasy, doesn't clog my freckles. Shantae

A Mineral makeup could be the way to go. (1) Benefitwell's foundation SPF 15, $19, is a little on the pricey side, but it's great for people with sensitive skin or allergies. If it doesn't work,

 Q At my school, we aren't allowed to wear makeup. What sort of things can I try? Courtney
 A Total moisturizer is the way to go, as it gives you coverage without having too much. (1) Nivea Tinted Moisturizing Day Cream, $14.69. For your eyes, use an eyeliner color and set with clear mascara such as (2) Avonella Enhanced Lash Mascara, $18. Close your lips with (3) Nivea Natural Volume SPF 20, $5.88, and you'll fool the teachers every time.

Hair va-va-voom!
 Q How do I achieve more volume in my hair? Katherine
 A You may be a fine-haired girl. Use real hair (4) Redken Body Full Instant Redfines, $23, in my hair to give it some "lift." Just wrap an oversized blob of mousse into your hand, rub together and work through from roots to ends. Run blow-dry hair upside down.

addition - and it looks for you. If given a second chance and you can use as little or as much as you like depending on what coverage you're after. Apply with the (1) Benefitwell's short-handled foundation brush, $45

 Q I have horrible hair! It's dry, frizzy, breaks easily and I get split ends quickly even after a blow - because I blow-dry and straighten my hair every day. I'm tired of trying but I look really bad. What product should I use? Austin
 A If you're blow-drying and straightening your hair, it's really important you use a heat protectant on towel-dried hair before you start. Try (7) Tresemme Thermal Creation Heat Sense Protection Spray, $8.90. This should help protect hair and give it some shine, smooth frizz, and make it (8) Gloveset Frizz Re-Cone, $23.20, so always frizz-free and make it super shiny!
